

Set on a beautiful Organic Farm very close to the Uffington White Horse.
We have brought together the best speakers Homoeopathy has to offer, many of who have taught and inspired us.
Come and join us relax, learn, have fun, make new friends and build on The Homoeopathic Community. We want the camp to be an experience that you will not forget!
Come alone, bring a friend or the whole family, but sorry No Dogs as it is a working farm!

How Homoeopathy Survives Everything.

Somebody once said, without an ounce of irony, "everything good will be attacked". This appears to be both true and consistent. Homeopathy always has been, is being and will be attacked by the priests in white nylon and their pharmaceutical paymasters. The righteous and corrupted are always with us and will not be stopped until shot, in the nicest possible way, of course. Homeopathy, both inwardly and in dealing with the world need to smarten up a lot to what is needed so we can continue to treat our patients without being illegal, imprisoned or executed. (Yes, I know it sounds extreme - but the situation is extreme.) We will cover what, in my significant opinion, Homeopathy needs to do and be, to survive and what Homeopaths need to do, to give themselves virtual immunity from the 'corrupted legal systems'. Really. This is unique critical information. When faced with 'extremis' the adaptable are usually the survivors. Victims are always executed or exterminated - it is expensive to keep them in jail. Homeopaths need to know the huge varieties of technical choice they have in Homeopathy. Then you can take the risk of using all of Homeopathy to find what works for you and gain the courage to use them - all of them - even the 'bad and unthinkable'. We will cover well that 'powerful expansion'.

The Miracle of the Similium

Much of our time is spent prescribing remedies that only partially help our patients. However, occasionally the remedy really hits the bullseye and that's when the magic of homoeopathy is revealed. David will present some cases where truly astounding transformations take place where we can only look on in wonder.

Dreams - A Portal to the Source.

This workshop will help unfold the inner meaning of your dream that only you know but don't know you know. We will talk about the process of dreaming and how dreams relate to Homoeopathy.

Michael Thompson FSHom presents
The Narayani Remedies

Michael has been in practice for over 30 years and despite that he is still fulfilled! He aspires to be a classical homeopathy but also uses combination remedies, acupuncture, allergy testing and the CoRe and AcuGraph software - that is partly why he does not publish cases these days but has plenty of good stories to tell. Many of his observations of patients come through a TCM perspective - Qi, Blood, TCM patterns, the pulse, tongue etc.

Since discovering the Narayani Remedies and the Sulis remedy machines he has made 200 remedies himself. He will talk about which are the most useful of the Narayani Remedies and his own Natural Medicine Works formulas; the different methodologies for conceiving formula remedies; the reasons why other combination remedies are not that effective; the rationale for combination remedies; when and why use combination remedies; the most useful and successful formulas for example - Injury Combination, Stop & Prevent Allergy, Treat Acute Hay fever.

Michael fled England 15 years ago to (successfully) find peace and love in the West of Ireland. He lives up in the Burren in Co. Clare with his partner and young daughter, by the side of a lake.

Misha Norland FSHom presents
How we receive a 'Homoeopathic' case.

Over the 40 years that I have been a homeopathic prescriber, I have come to fully appreciate that our cases are the spring-board from which we plunge not only into practise, but also into a deepening understanding of our art. Of course, the two flow together: understanding informs our participation as we receive the case, which in turn effects the healing outcome.

Once we know what we are looking for (the disturbance at the core of the deranged vital force), then healer and patient become co-navigators, bypassing irrelevancies, and steering towards the source. This is like treasure buried at the bottom of the ocean. It is buried because it has become a part of the person and entangled with their nature. Our task is to provide an opportunity for it to reveal itself. The treasure, in this analogy, is the similimum, of course. And because it is this, we apprehend it as it is, a cuttlefish, or an albatross, or a sundew, or a grain of flint. Sometimes, direct knowledge is not available to our conscious mind and we employ techniques, methods, analysis strategies. I shall be speaking about such matters as we go along. Always, however, the basis of the analysis falls back upon the case receiving as this predicates everything.

My personal fascination lies in discovering the uniquely individualising characteristics in a case in a non-aggressive manner, so that the healing miracle of homeopathy may be realised. It is helpful to have homeopathic philosophy and principles of analysis and of prescribing at one's finger-tips. It is exciting that our community is creatively engaged, developing new ideas as well as new remedies. I will be bringing some of these along with me, as they are becoming integrated into my current understanding and practice.

Homoeopathy – Fundamentalism or Liberation?

For thousands of years the mortar and pestle have been the means whereby solids and insoluble materials have been reduced by grinding and pressure into sub microscopic dimensions to aid ingestion for medicinal purposes. During his life Hahnemann was to employ this same process that we now term as trituration, as a means for dissolving and potentiating metals and insoluble substances such as gold, lead, tin, and copper. Then during the 20th century it was learned that the processing of solids into nanometer diameters liberates a range of properties and behaviours that are not evident during traditional metallurgical and chemical processes. A nanometer is the length a hair grows in the time it takes a person to lift a razor to their face or leg.

When substances are reduced to such nanoparticle dimensions, new properties are liberated as they have reached the borderline or the gateway between matter, energy, and consciousness. Throughout the six editions of the Organon Hahnemann is engaged in an ongoing discovery of the different ways of preparing and prescribing his nanoparticle remedies.

Strangely enough, why is it that many homeopaths today continue to prescribe to the level of the 4th edition while virtually ignoring the evolving Hahnemann of the 5th and 6th editions?
